

LUNCH-HOUR INCH LOSS!

Offer clients a confidence boost this summer with Shrinking Violet, a body wrap solution that can melt inches off the waistline in just one treatment...

Whether it's getting into that bikini or squeezing into a bodycon dress, a few inches around the waistline can make all the difference to your confidence - so, why not offer clients the Shrinking Violet body wrap solution?

With this innovative new wrap, inches can vanish from the waistline in just one treatment - but don't take our word for it: not only has the treatment been clinically proven* to work but it's also brought to you by Tibby Oliver, the inch-loss professional. With no scary tools or sharp needles in sight, this non-evasive technique is the ultimate treatment for confidence boosting.

LUNCH-HOUR TREATMENT

In just one treatment clients could see up to two inches disappear from their waistline - and with no sticky residue, it's perfect to offer this as a lunch-hour treat for those on the go. Some women have even dropped a whole dress size after the first one-hour treatment, so this is also perfect to offer as part of a bridal party package.

INNOVATIVE INGREDIENTS

The main ingredient is an active phospholipid solution, which is pre-mixed with essential oils containing a 'cellulite blend'. The solution is combined with the Wraptide - a special type of heat-inducing film wrap, which is applied to the client's body - and then the 'magic' works while the client relaxes for an hour. For maximum results, recommend a six-week course to clients who are after long-term changes. Advise all clients to combine the Shrinking Violet treatment with a healthy-eating regime to help keep those inches off.
